INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT { Introduction of the hosts }

中国环境科学学会
CHINESE SOCIETY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

The Chinese Society for Environmental Sciences (CSES) was established in 1978 with the approval of the China Association for Science and Technology. It is the earliest and largest national environmental science and technology association in China. As a national first-class society and the highest academic organization in the environmental field, CSES serves as a bridge and link between the Party, the government, and the vast number of environmental science and technology workers. It is an integral part of the national ecological and environmental protection cause and the national innovation system, and an important force in building ecological civilization and a technologically advanced country.

CSES currently has over 120,000 individual members and more than 2,200 organizational members, distributed across provinces, autonomous regions, municipalities, and the Hong Kong, Macao, and Taiwan regions. The Council serves as the governing body, while the Standing Council functions as the permanent deliberative body, and there is also a Supervisory Board. CSES has 8 working committees, 72 divisions, and professional committees, covering almost all fields of ecological and environmental science, technology, and management.

In recent years, under the leadership of the Ministry of Ecology and Environment and the China Association for Science and Technology, CSES has made significant progress in serving science and technology workers, promoting innovation-driven development, enhancing public scientific literacy, and supporting scientific decision-making for the Party and government. It has carried out effective work in academic exchange, scientific dissemination, technology evaluation, results transformation, talent cultivation, education and training, decision-making consultation, and member services. CSES has established a series of brands such as the Annual Scientific Technology Conference, Environmental Protection Science and Technology Award, Young Scientist Award, Belt and Road Environmental Innovation and Entrepreneurship Conference, Environmental Institute Director Forum, "I am an Environmental Explainer" campaign, and the journals Chinese Environmental Science and Environmental Science and Ecotechnology (ESE). Additionally, CSES supports national platforms such as the Ministry of Ecology and Environment's National Environmental Protection Engineering Technology Center, the National Environmental Science Popularization Base, environmental and health literacy monitoring, the Ministry of Education's Environmental Engineering Education Accreditation, and the China Association for Science and Technology's Eco-Environmental Industry-Academia Collaboration Alliance. CSES has made significant contributions to China's ecological civilization construction and environmental protection efforts, earning a strong social reputation.

北京大学
PEKING UNIVERSITY

Peking University was founded in 1898 as a result of the Hundred Days' Reform and the national desire for salvation and strength through education. Originally named the Imperial University of Peking, it was the first modern national comprehensive university in China. After the Xinhai Revolution in 1912, it was renamed Peking University.

As the center of the New Culture Movement and the birthplace of the May Fourth Movement, Peking University was the first institution to spread Marxism and promote democratic and scientific thought in China. It served as an important base for early activities of the Communist Party of China, contributing significantly to national revival, liberation, and the construction and development of the country, as well as societal progress and modernization. The spirit of patriotism, progress, democracy, and science, along with a rigorous, diligent, and innovative academic tradition, has been passed down through generations at Peking University.

Since the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, under the strong leadership of the Party Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping at its core, Peking University has accelerated its progress toward high-quality development and achieved new breakthroughs on its journey to build a world-class university with Chinese characteristics. On May 2, 2018, General Secretary Xi Jinping visited Peking University and, during a meeting with students and faculty, remarked: "In recent years, Peking University has inherited its glorious traditions, adhered to the socialist direction of education, achieved fruitful results in cultivating virtue and character, made remarkable progress in the Double First-Class initiative, and contributed significantly to economic and social development. The school's development ideas are clear, and its educational strength and influence have notably increased, which is gratifying." Encouraged and guided by General Secretary Xi Jinping, Peking University continues its efforts to serve as a cradle for cultivating high-quality innovative talent, a center for generating cutting-edge science, advanced thought and culture, a hub for serving the nation's high-quality development, and a bridge for advancing high-level international openness. Peking University is writing a new chapter in the construction of a world-class university with Chinese characteristics.

The predecessor of Tsinghua University, Tsinghua School, was founded in 1911 and renamed Tsinghua College in 1912. In 1928, it was renamed National Tsinghua University. After the outbreak of the War of Resistance Against Japan in 1937, Tsinghua moved south to Changsha and, along with Peking University and Nankai University, formed the National Changsha Temporary University. In 1938, it relocated to Kunming and was renamed National Southwest Associated University. In 1946, Tsinghua returned to its original campus and established five schools: Humanities, Law, Science, Engineering, and Agriculture, encompassing 26 departments. After the national restructuring of higher education institutions in 1952, Tsinghua became a polytechnic university, focusing on training engineering and technical personnel for the country and earning the reputation of "the cradle of red engineers."

With strong support from the state and society, Tsinghua University has made significant progress in talent cultivation, scientific research, social service, cultural inheritance and innovation, and international cooperation through initiatives like the "211 Project," "985 Project," and the "Double First-Class" construction. Currently, Tsinghua has 32 schools, 54 departments, and 12 residential colleges, covering 12 academic disciplines, including Science, Engineering, Literature, Art, History, Philosophy, Economics, Management, Law, Education, Medicine, and Interdisciplinary Studies.

Looking to the future, Tsinghua University will uphold its motto of "Self-Discipline and Social Commitment" and its spirit of "Actions Speak Louder Than Words," adhering to the educational philosophy of integrating Chinese and Western knowledge, blending ancient and modern insights, and fostering cross-disciplinary collaboration. With the guiding principles of patriotism, excellence, and continuous innovation, and under the leadership of Xi Jinping's Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, Tsinghua will continue to prioritize the cultivation of virtuous and capable individuals, serve the nation as its ultimate pursuit, strengthen discipline construction as the foundation of its development, deepen reforms as its driving force, and enhance Party building as a strong guarantee. Tsinghua University is determined to advance towards becoming a world-class university with Chinese characteristics, contributing even more to national development, the well-being of the people, and the progress of human civilization.

清华大学的前身清华学堂始建于1911年，1912年更名为清华学校。1928年更名为国立清华大学。1937年抗日战争全面爆发后南迁长沙，与北京大学、南开大学组建国立长沙临时大学，1938年迁至昆明改名为国立西南联合大学。1946年迁回清华园，设有文、法、理、工、农等5个学院、26个系。1952年全国高等学校院系调整后，清华大学成为一所多科性工业大学，重点为国家培养工程技术人才，被誉为“红色工程师的摇篮”。

在国家和社会的大力支持下，通过实施“211工程”“985工程”，开展“双一流”建设，清华大学在人才培养、科学研究、社会服务、文化传承创新、国际合作交流等方面都取得了长足进展。目前，清华大学共设32个学院、54个系、12个书院，已成为一所设有理学、工学、文学、艺术学、历史学、哲学、经济学、管理学、法学、教育学、医学和交叉学科等12个学科门类的综合性、研究型、开放式大学。
